- Exercise 2. Can you find the mistakes?

There are 11 mistakes in this letter, please find and correct them all.

To Dan,

Hey Dan, how are is you? I'm really good, I am enjoying London. It is a very interesting city. There is so much to do. What are you doing? Do you have any news for me?
(or How are you doing? = ¿Cómo estás?)

I had a great weekend; on Friday I went to Oxford Street and did some shopping with my friends. On Saturday I went to Liverpool street, there is a cool market there. I bought some clothes. I had a rest on Sunday, I was so tired.

You have to come and visit me soon; you will love London. I will show you the Big Ben, the London Eye and the pubs. There are a lot of great pubs in London.

Anyway, I have to go now, write back soon.

Best wishes,

David

- Exercise 3. Try to fill in the gaps with the accurate words

My daily routines these days

In these times of quarantine (confinement), loneliness is more difficult to bear, but thanks to family calls and the friendship of many people I can't complain. It is very gratifying that they remember you right now.

I try to be busy all day, but I also find time to relax. Every day after breakfast, at around 10, I greet my neighbours in the patio.

I spend a lot of time on the phone, receiving and making calls, reading Whatsapp messages etc...

I'm already a little tired of them. I listen to loud music while doing my housework. I do a little sport every day, going up and down the stairs, forty steps, ten times. I also do a bit of reading in the morning or early afternoon.

After (having) lunch, I watch TV and relax until 5. After reading for a while, I study a little English. At eight o'clock, I go out on the balcony and clap. Then I play loud music. I have dinner at around nine and later

I watch TV or play a computer game. At about twelve, I go to bed.
